Clark resigns as GSMS principal

Former assistant at high school took over her post Monday

By Steve Marschke

(Features Editor Daryl Fisher contributed to this report.)

Golden State Middle School has a new principal.

Facing a closed-session school board vote on her tenure last Tuesday night, GSMS principal Janette Clark submitted a letter of resignation the same day. The board voted unanimously to accept the resignation, after a closed-door debate that helped push the board meeting past midnight. Although the resignation was agreed to be effective June 30, Clark was given a temporary administrative position to fill until she leaves the district.

A number of insiders had told the News-Ledger that a three-person board majority was ready to terminate Clark at the Feb. 23 meeting, before they were handed the letter of resignation.

Clark declined comment when reached last week just prior to the board meeting, and could not be reached for comment this week.

Meanwhile, Superintendent Dr. Dennis Kelleher quickly filled the principal's seat at the middle school with Ken Whittemore, who began at Golden State on Monday. Whittemore was formerly the vice principal at River City High School.

Several WUSD officials declined comment about Clark's departure (personnel rules limit what they are able to say) but Superintendent Kelleher and a pair of board members expressed optimism about the new Whittemore administration at Golden State.

"Ken has been a wonderful vice president at RCHS, and I'm convinced he will do a great job in his new position as principal of Golden State Middle School," said board member Irene Eklund. "He really cares about kids and he has definitely earned the opportunity to be a principal in our school district."

Board member David Farmer agreed that Whittemore "will do an outstanding job at Golden State, based on what he accomplished at River City."

And Superintendent Kelleher expressed the same view.

"I think Ken has demonstrated from his very successful performance at River City that he has the skills and ability to lead a school," said Kelleher.

River City High School Principal Dr. Donna White now finds herself looking for a replacement for Whittemore. A search for a new vice principal at the high school has begun, said Superintendent Kelleher. A longtime W.U.S.D. teacher who had been offered the post on an interim basis declined yesterday to take it.

Clark became the principal at Golden State, West Sacramento's 1,200-student middle school, in 1998, after former principal Diane Smith transferred to accept the helm of the new Southport Elementary School. Clark had previously been an assistant princi-

Student crime reportedly dropping in local schools

By Daryl Fisher

(David Kopperud, the Director of Personnel & Pupil Services for the Washington Unified School District, contributed to this article.)

One of the most commonly held myths by people who live on the other side of the Sacramento River is that West Sacramento's public schools have a high incidence of crime and drug usage, but last Wednesday, Delaine Eastin, the California State Superintendent of Public Instruction, and Bill Lockyer, the California Attorney General, came to Southport Elementary School to report just the opposite.

Eastin and Lockyer publicly released the findings of the 1997-98 California Safe Schools Assessment Results Promoting Safe Schools and they chose West Sacramento's new Southport Elementary School to make their presentation because of WUSD's record of accuracy in reporting school crimes and its ongoing efforts to reduce those numbers even more dramatically.

"It was really an honor to have the State Superintendent of Public Instruction and the Attorney General come to our school," said Diane Smith, the principal of Southport Elementary. "After their presentations, they held a conference call in my office with other interested members of the media and Ms. Eastin even found time to visit a couple of our classrooms and talk to some of our students and teachers. She's a very nice woman and she's a real advocate for public education and safe school campuses."

Eastin and Lockyer's report documented the fact that the rate of crimes per 1,000 students for 1995-96, 96-97, and 97-98 is low in West Sacramento schools compared to most districts in Yolo County and in California. The results of this third year of data collection show that WUSD, as well as many other school districts throughout the state, is making progress in reducing the incidence of crime on public school campuses. The adoption of clear expectations regarding student conduct, the implementation of district policies addressing the use of alcohol and other drugs, the implementation of strong conflict resolution programs, and the use of the School Attendance Review Board for early intervention services were all cited as reasons to commend WUSD for taking a leadership role in assuring that public school campuses continue to be safe and secure learning environments.

Comparative statistics were released which show that in 1997-98, WUSD schools, with an enrollment of 5,839 students, reported 21 drug/alcohol offenses, ten batteries, two possessions of a weapon, and 13 property crimes, while Davis Joint Unified, which has an enrollment of 7,740, reported 41 drug/offenses, 19 batteries, seven possessions of a weapon, and 49 property crimes. Board approves plan to move 6th graders

News-Ledger Editor

The Washington Unified School District Board of Trustees last week approved a plan to move the district's sixth graders from the middle school to the elementary schools. The plan, which involves bringing portable classrooms to some elementary school sites to handle the increase in pupils, was designed by a district task force.

"We met for six months to devise the best way to do this, with how many classes at each site and so forth," said Dr. Dennis Kelleher, superintendent.

When the district's two year-round elementary schools, Bryte and Southport, begin class this July, they will do so with sixth graders on campus for the first time in the 1990s.

One reason for the change is to remove the sixth graders from middle school surroundings where they may not yet belong, the school board feels.

"In the eyes of many of the parents, teachers, and some of the staff, the sixth graders need to be with elementary school students," said Kelleher. "The sixth graders are seen by some parents as little kids, where the eighth graders (at the top of the ladder in the middle school) are young adults."

Some teachers and parents opposed the board's decision to move them, believing that the sixth graders belonged at Golden State.

Kelleher said that the change will relieve overcrowding at Golden State dramatically, even while it creates challenges for the elementary sites.

"Golden State is a facility built and designed for about 800 students, and it has had 1,200 to 1,300 students in it. You can believe there was tremendous overcrowding."

About Town:

The Hensleys: hard work & family

By Daryl Fisher
Features Editor

Roland Hensley was born and raised in rural Arkansas, where his parents and most of his relatives were hard working farmers. That is also where he met his wife of 54 years, Jewell.

"We're not exactly sure which one of us winked at the other first," said Jewell with a warm smile, "but we liked each other right away."

"There were walk-in movies every Friday and Saturday night," remembered Roland, "and the hard part was finding someone who had a car that could get us there."

Roland and Jewell were married in 1944 and Roland spent most of those early years in the bakery business.

"You had to be strong and in pretty good shape to work in the mixing room," recalled Roland. "It also helped to be tall, because the vats were high and you had to reach up to pour all the ingredients in. If I remember right, if you wanted to make a ten foot long, four foot wide, and three foot high piece of dough, you had to pour in 21 pounds of yeast, 34 pounds of sugar, and about 1,650 pounds of flour, milk and water."

ROLAND and JEWELL HENSLEY

In 1952 Roland and Jewell decided to take their growing family and move out to California.

"We had relatives in the bakery business down around Fresno," said Roland, "and we spent the better part of three years there. Then an opportunity to work for the Rainbo bread company in Sacramento came up, and I worked there from around 1954 to 1957."

By the late 1950s, Roland had done just about everything a baker could do, including being a foreman and a supervisor, and he decided it was time to start his own business.

"I bought a bakery in Tracy," said Roland, "but after about nine months, we sold it and moved back to West Sacramento and it wasn't too long after that that we opened up Tastee Donuts on Merkley Avenue. We also operated another one on Sacramento Avenue, and they turned out to be a pretty good little family business."

The best part of running their own business for Roland and Jewell was that it was a family affair from top to bottom.

"Our sons did most of the baking," said Jewell, "and our daughters did most of the selling. Not only did we all get to spend a lot of time together, but I think it also gave each of our children a good respect for hard work which has served them well over the years."

"I think those donut shops were the best thing I ever did for the family," said Roland. "We served between 500 and 1,000 customers every day, and we all had to get along and pull together to get it done. I have a lot of fond memories from those days."

In the mid-1970s, after 14 years in the Tastee Donut business, Roland and Jewell

River Ranch hearing

Following a unanimous vote by the city council Feb. 17, Linden Road's River Ranch subdivision has won a map approval and will seek a development agreement with the city of West Sacramento.

The council upheld a planning commission decision and voted down a citizens' appeal of the development's plan at the meeting.

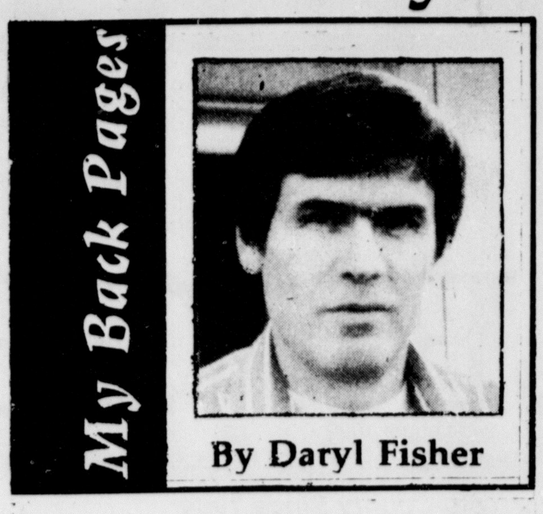
On March 18, the planning commission will hold a public hearing regarding the development agreement.

333 drivers screened

The West Sacramento Police Department held a "sobriety checkpoint" on Friday, checking 333 vehicles for signs of driving under the influence.

The checkpoint lasted from 8:30 p.m. to midnight. Ten field sobriety tests were conducted, the department reports, and one driver was arrested for being under the influence. Five vehicles were impounded for being driven by suspended or unlicensed drivers, and two were stored for other reasons. One driver was arrested for being in possession of drug paraphernalia and bringing an open container of beer through the checkpoint.

Just where do old sayings actually come from?



I don't know about you, but I often find myself wondering just how certain old sayings and expressions first originated, and after recently doing some exhaustive research into the matter, I've been able to at least put the following ones to rest:

A whipping boy: The son of England's James I, who later became Charles I, had a friend named William Murray, and he was officially appointed to be Charles' playmate and fellow pupil, but he also had to receive all punishments deserved by either of the two lads. His being flogged when the young prince did something wrong made William Murray the first 'whipping boy'.

In hot water: During the dark ages, one of the favorite tests of guilt or innocence of a crime called for the dipping of the hand or arm into boiling hot water. The innocent could supposedly pull this off without making much of a fuss.

A donnybrook: Every year for six centuries beginning in 1204, in Donnybrook, which is now a part of Dublin, Ireland, a riotous fair was held each August. It lasted for approximately two weeks and much of the that time was devoted to drunk, quick-tempered Irishmen beating each other to a pulp.

In cahoots with someone: Cahute is the French word for a small hut or cabin, and to be in cahoots with someone would be expected of the fellow inhabitants of a small cabin, or men closely engaged in a joint undertaking.

To draw the line: It originally referred to the cut of a plowshare across the field to indicate the limit of one's holdings, back in the 16th century.

Dead as a dodo: The dodo, now extinct, was larger than the swan and had a much heavier body. But being slow of motion and unable, with their small wings to fly, they were easily killed by voyagers and early settlers in the islands east of Madagascar.

Hell on wheels: Back in the 1860s, most temporary towns at the end of a western railroad line had gangs of often violent, lawless, and hell-raising construction workers living in boxcars, and their homes were thought of as 'hell on wheels'.

To burn one's boats (or bridges): It was a practice of Caesar's to burn his boats after crossing rivers or seas with his armies into alien lands to make his leaders and men realize most definitely that a victorious campaign would offer the only chance of a safe return to Rome.

The real McCoy: A young prize fighter declared in a barroom that he could lick any of the town's McCoys, any time and any place. When he picked himself up from the sawdust after "Kid McCoy", (who happened to be in the bar at the time) had delivered a haymaker, he amended his remarks by saying that he had meant "any but the real McCoy."

As clean as a whistle: To get a sweet, pure sound from a whistle or reed, the tube must be clean and dry.

To change one's tune: Wandering minstrels in the Middle Ages, when they traveled from court to court, found it discrete to change the wording of the songs they sang to keep each successive baron happy.

Knock on wood: Attributed to the old game known as "touching wood" or "wood tag", in which a player who succeeds in touching wood is safe from capture.

It warms the cockles of my heart: Anatomists in the 17th century likened the human heart to the shape and valves of the mollusk, common on European shores, and the cockle, and they saw sufficient resemblance between the two values of the mollusk and the two ventricles of the heart to refer to the latter as the cockles.

Mad as a hatter: Mercury used to be used in the making of felt hats, and often the unfortunate hatter who would work for years with the mercury would be afflicted with a violent and uncontrollable twitching of the muscles as a result of its poisoning effect. Those not understanding the cause of the strange gyrations often concluded the hatter was mad.

In one ear and out the other: First uttered by an Englishman who had to sit through a lengthy sermon by John Calvin in 1583.

To put one's foot in it: By an old rancher, who said, "I declare, he's such an ass that if there was just one cow-flop in a ten-acre field he'd be sure to put his foot in it."

Hanged, drawn, and quartered: Goes back to the charming 15th century practice of executing criminals by hanging them, disemboweling them (drawn) and then cutting them into four quarters and scattering the various parts throughout England.

Charley-horse: In the 1890s, a horse (named Charley) which drew a roller in the White Sox park in Chicago had a peculiar limp. Hence, the fans applied the name "Charley-horse" to any player afflicted with a muscular stiffness or lameness.

And finally, To get a person by the short hairs: This often-used phrase actually goes all the way back to the Civil War, when soldiers who got into fist fights often grabbed each other by their beards.

Looking for a few good (wo)men

The Yolo County Sheriff's Department is looking to recruit men and women into their Reserve Deputy program. Those interested in volunteering community service to the Yolo County communities or who wish to begin a career in law enforcement are invited.

The Yolo County Sheriff's Department Reserve Unit is made up of men and women who volunteer their time to supplement the manpower of the agency. The Reserve Deputies working for the Sheriff's Department are individuals who participate in all of the regular functions of a full-time Deputy Sheriff on a part-time basis.

The Sheriff's Reserve Unit was originally formed to provide extra manpower at times when the regular members of the Department needed additional assistance. Since then the Reserves have evolved into a fully qualified and functioning body of Peace Officers. Through ongoing training and practical field experience, the Reserve Deputies learn and practice the duties of a Deputy Sheriff and become able to step up and fill in wherever needed within the Department's operations.

Reserve Deputies serve in all divisions of the Sheriff's Department.

The Yolo County Sheriff's Reserve Deputies are required to complete a Peace Officer's Standards and Training (P.O.S.T.) Approved training program. The testing for applicants includes a written test, physical agility qualification course, oral interview, background investigation and polygraph, medical and psychological exams. Upon acceptance to the reserve program, Reserve Deputies are required to attend one training meeting monthly and to work sixteen hours per month in the capacity of a Reserve Deputy. Reserve Deputies may be called upon to provide manpower for special functions, such as during large scale emergencies or disasters.

For information on the Yolo County Sheriff's Reserve Program, and the training necessary to become a Sheriff's Reserve, contact Captain Lee Refsland or Lieutenant John Criste at the Yolo County Sheriff's Department, 41793 Gibson Rd. in Woodland. The phone number for the department is (530) 668-5280.

Sac supervisors vote 5-0 in favor of stadium bonds

Last-minute changes to a $40-million bond deal led the Sacramento County Board of Supervisors to unanimously approve that county's participation in the construction of a AAA-league baseball stadium in West Sacramento on Wednesday.

Sacramento County, which has little direct benefit from the stadium proposal, will guarantee two-thirds of the construction bonds' value. West Sacramento will guarantee the other third, and Yolo County will also make financial concessions to the ballpark.

The vote means the last major hurdle to building the stadium has been passed -- and, barring surprises, team owner Art Savage and baseball promoters Warren Smith and Bob Hemond will deliver on their promise to bring a team to West Sacramento to play ball in April, 2000.

Among last-moment concessions from River City Baseball were an agreement not to move the team for the life of the bonds, and agreement to place additional into reserve for bond payments.

The Sacramento Kings (6-8) opened their current home stand Monday night with a tough 105-102 loss to Seattle (9-4). The Kings fly off to Vancouver on Tuesday night, then return to the Arco Arena to face the division leading Portland Trailblazers (9-3) on Wednesday to finish off their three consecutive game set. The Kings will enjoy two days off before they travel to play in Phoenix on Sunday (6 p.m., ch.31), returning to the Arco for a Sunday night game against Dallas (6 p.m.). In NFL news, the 49ers continued to maneuver around their salary cap by trading Pro bowl guard Kevin Gogan to Miami for a fifth round pick. The 49ers started the offseason $28 million over the $57.3 million cap. Since then, the 49ers have cut over $30 million from their 1998 player payroll through trades and contract restructuring. Rumor has All-Pro safety Merton Hanks and his famous chicken neck dance on the trading block. The Niners are trying to resign their free agent wide receivers Owens and Stokes, but the Panthers are hot on the trail of J.J. Stokes. Ex-49ers coach George Siefert has promised J.J. the primary receiver position and a very lucrative long term contract. The new 49ers management is trying to get their team younger!

The Raiders also made a couple of moves by releasing Jeff George and signing the Chiefs QB, Rich Gannon. They also finally fixed a hole in their kicking game by signing veteran kicker Michael Husted, who became a free agent in Tampa Bay's salary cap moves.

The US World Cup soccer team is preparing for the "Nike US Cup" featuring a four team tournament between Mexico, Bolivia and Guatemala. The four teams will play two doubleheaders starting Thursday, March 11 in Los Angeles and on Saturday, March 13 in San Diego. The US will play Guatemala on Thursday and Mexico on Saturday in San Diego (12:30 p.m. - ABC). Mexico, who won the Cup tournament in 1997, hasn't lost to the USA since 1995.

In local boxing news, promoter Don Chargin's boxing show on March 8th at the Radisson Hotel featuring Willie Jorrin has been postponed until Sunday, March 21. Jorrin, who was injured in a backyard mishap, will return to the gym next week to prepare for his matchup against Edgar Garcia (17-6-1) of Mexico City.

RC tennis continues winning ways

From River City High School

Tryouts have concluded, the final roster has been set, and the River City High School Tennis Team has started its 1999 season. A school record fifty-seven students attempted to earn a spot on the squad, with forty making the final roster. Seventeen members of last year's Golden Empire League championship team return, led by six seniors – Hampheng Insixiengmay, Loan Nguyen, Sue Yang, Aaron Potnick, Joe Brown, and Jennifer Pollard. When G.E.W. play begins in two weeks, the Raiders will have seeking their fourth straight title. But for now, a tough non-league schedule is the focus.

River City opened with two matches at home last week against two schools from the nearby Capital Valley Conference, Center and Natomas. First up were the Cougars from Center High in North Highlands and the Raiders swept the visitors 9 matches to 0. Potnick won 6-2, 6-1 at #1 boys singles. Insixiengmay struggled early at #2 but battled back to win in three sets 4-6, 6-1, 6-1, and Nguyen caught fire in the second set to close out her match at #2 girls singles 6-4, 6-0.

Other highlights against the Cougars included a 6-0, 6-0 win by junior Khonesavanh Lattasima at #1 girls singles, a 10-0 shutout by the #1 boys doubles team of juniors Huy Truong and Sisavat Phouanglasy, and a successful varsity debut by newcomers Andy Amphonephong and Keonakone Lattasima in mixed doubles, 10-2. The Raiders swept the girls doubles matches with wins at #1 by Sue Yang and Sokpin Phoung (10-1) and at #2 by Erin Cheechov and Ka Yang (10-4). Joe Brown and Casey Insixiengmay teamed for a 10-2 victory at #2 boys doubles to round out the overall win.

On Thursday, the Raiders defeated the reigning C.V.C. champions from Natomas, 6 to 1. The Nighthawks were strong in boys singles, where Sunny Badyal wore down Khampheng Insixiengmay 5-7, 6-3, 6-2 at #2 and Adam Schaal took an early lead on Potnick before falling 6-3, 2-6, 2-6 at #1. Raider Coach Dave Brooks elected not to play his top three girls against the shorthanded Nighthawks and this allowed sophomore Sokpin Phoung and freshman Keonakone Lattasima to play their first varsity singles matches. Each was successful in lopsided victories, Phoung 6-1, 6-2 at #1 and Lattasima 6-0, 6-2 at #2.

The three doubles matches brought a workmanlike win in boys doubles, a nailbiter in #1 mixed, and a blowout in #2 mixed. Juniors Prak Pich and Huy Truong won 10-4 in the boys doubles match. The #1 mixed team of Sisavat Phouanglasy and Ka Vang fell behind 4-7 and 5-8 before rallying to get the set into a tiebreak at 9-games all. The Raider duo then won in dramatic fashion, 8 points to 6. At #2 mixed, Casey Insixeingmay paired with sophomore Khounthavy Montry who was playing her first varsity match. They won easily, 10-0.

The win over Natomas was a good start to a difficult stretch in the Raiders pre-G.E.L. schedule. This week, RC plays three matches against three more defending league champions. Central Catholic of Modesto (Southern Athletic League), Amador (Mother Lode League), and Livingston (Trans Valley League) all were league champs in 1998.

News-Ledger Editorial:

Odds & ends

Several weeks ago, the West Sacramento City Council voted 4-1 to approve a redevelopment agency grant to the West Sacramento Downtown Association, partially funding the association's $18,000 budget.

The "1" in that vote was Mayor Christopher Cabaldon, who explained later to the News-Ledger that he was concerned about the association's budget, since about two-thirds of its money went to a management firm (largely "overhead").

This is a valid point, but alas, this is also a politically delicate issue, and any changes to the way the city relates to its downtown association will move slowly rather than quickly.

On a related topic, a News-Ledger article just prior to the city council decision compared the Downtown Association's public funding with earlier public funding to the city's chamber of commerce. It was perhaps not noted clearly enough that the chamber has been increasing its accountability for the funds it receives from local government.

This is admirable, and good for both the chamber and the city. The chamber operates on a fairly strict "contract," providing certain quantifiable services in return for some funds from the redevelopment agency.

For some time, this newspaper office has been enjoying the newsletters provided by the local Rotary Club. They are perhaps the most entertaining club newsletters in town. Now that the club is celebrating its 50th anniversary, this is a good time to acknowledge this.

The newsletters might be a pretty good reason to join the Rotary Club, but there are others. The club performs good works such as fundraising for scholarships, as well. And, as far as the News-Ledger is aware, Rotarians are not required to wear funny hats at their meetings.

Happy Anniversary, Rotary.

Questioning the will of the people

Yolo County voters sent two very clear messages in the June 1998 election:

They did not want to combine the offices of treasurer/tax collector and auditor/controller;

They wanted Paul Lester to be their treasurer/tax collector.

When the Board of Supervisors voted on February 16, 1999, by a 3-2 vote to designate the auditor/controller as lead agent in investment authority only supervisors Rosenberg and Wok headed the voters' message. Supervisors McGowan, Stallard and Pollock had their own different interpretations.

Mr. McGowan remarked, "Paul is elected; the public in its infinite wisdom, made its decision." He demeans the public's choice through McGowan himself sits on the board by that same "infinite wisdom" of the public.

I recall that during the time when it as thought that Sally Franchi might be making investment decisions she said that she felt uncomfortable and was inexperienced in that role; she requested that a professional firm be hired to assist her. Thus it would seem odd to again try to put her in that position.

Paul Lester has the necessary experience and this task has traditionally been performed by the treasurer tax/collector.

It amazes me that in all the writing and talking and scolding about Mr. Lester's investment decisions one very important fact is always omitted: The Japanese investments that some people have been so critical of matured as expected in April-May of 1998 and paid off as anticipated without any problem. Those who continue to punish Mr. Lester for some perceived wrong are following their own political agenda. They are trying to pull an end run and combine these two offices though the taxpayers and voters of this county have clearly indicated twice now that they do not want the offices – or their functions – combined.

I feel that the board's retaining "final accountability" for investment of surplus county funds will be an adequate safeguard. I hope that the Board of Supervisors will reconsider their decision and act in accordance with the spirit and letter of the June 1998 election results.

Linden Road development case

An Open Letter to Margy Yutzy (who was profiled in an 'About Town' article in last week's News-Ledger):

Living on Linden Road for three or four years certainly qualifies you as a local expert in the field of urban development?

You are naïve all right, not to realize that the developers are doing all that is possible to integrate new neighborhoods into existing ones! It is in their best interest, too!

Having been around West Sacramento a lot longer than you, I can remember a lot more farmland than you see today! I have watched East Yolo grow and develop for over 60 years. I used to pick tomatoes where you are living now, and hunt pheasants on your property. Since you have lived on Linden Road, you have not seen a sugar beet, and I doubt you would recognize safflower? Any wheat or hay you think you saw is a figment of your imagination!

Very few residents of Sacramento/West Sacramento metropolitan area can see and enjoy the snowcapped Sierras or the beautiful Sacramento sky line!

Our rural atmosphere is gone forever, certainly before you arrived on the scene! Go look for a real injustice to correct!

'Bee' neglects Yolo

An Open Letter to Howard Weaver, Editor of The Sacramento Bee:

I was disappointed that the Tuesday, January 26, 1999 Sacramento Bee Neighbors Answer Book had overlooked Yolo County's contribution toward Northern California's history and its future. The publication was to be used as " a guide to communities to assist people in moving to the area, as well as current residents (and) provides listings of agencies, telephone numbers and organizations ". For whatever reason, the editor(s) of the Neighbors Answer Book only focused on Sacramento, El Dorado, Placer and Nevada Counties. Why wasn't Yolo County included in this publication? It is geographically closer to Sacramento County than Nevada County is to Sacramento County. The Sacramento Bee's oversight is beyond explanation and defies logic. Ironically, the cover of the public featured a lovely photograph of Old Sacramento obviously taken from the riverbank on the Yolo County side. Yes, there was slight mention of the Port of Sacramento, as well as a tiny item relating to the West Sacramento Little League. However, this is hardly a fair representation of the history that Yolo County has contributed, as well as what it can offer in the future, not to mention its cultural diversity.

Some of the significant contributions Yolo County has offered to Northern California include:

The Yolo County Basin Wetlands Project, completed in October 1997, and personally dedicated by President Clinton, is a facility that bird watchers continue to enjoy. This 3500-acre project is in the middle of the Pacific Flyway, thus providing bird watchers with many hours of entertainment.

The Yolo County Historical Society sponsors a yearly "Woodland Stroll Through History." This annual event hosts tours of vintage estates, provides musical entertainment, crafts and other related activities.

The Yolo County Fair has been in existence for over 50 years. It offers Northern Californians a chance to visit an old-fashioned country fair. The silent art auction, in and of itself, is incredible. Parking costs just $2, and entrance to the fair is free. Those of us old enough to remember when the State Fair was located on Stockton Boulevard will appreciate the quaint charm of the Yolo County Fair.

The Yolo Shortline Railroad offers several different types of excursions. Most, if not all of the participants, are volunteers and do it simply for the love of all things railroad related. In fact, an upcoming excursion in February offers riders the opportunity to travel the 8,000 foot Elkhorn Trestle bisecting the Yolo Bypass while it is flooded. I'm sure it will be quite a sight to behold.

While Sacramento houses the Towe Auto Museum, was The Sacramento Bee aware that one of the most extensive farming equipment museums in the United States is located in Woodland? The Heidrick Ag History Center provides a marvelous opportunity to view restored antique farming equipment, and to receive an education regarding rural California and the farming community's contribution to this remarkable and fertile valley. The museum boasts of its Hays Antique Truck Museum, recognized as the largest of its type in the world. Curators are quite willing and eager to share their knowledge with visitors.

Other Yolo County amenities include:
Many parks and libraries, good restaurants, several shopping centers, all levels of schooling (both private and public), golf courses, and affordable housing. Because of its geographic diversity, one can choose whether to live in an urban or a rural environment.

The University of California at Davis is one of the most highly acclaimed educational facilities in the United States. As an aside, it frequently offers eclectic musical entertainment that meets a wide variety of tastes.

Need I say more? Yolo County residents would like to be recognized too, for their ongoing participation in and support of, the history and future of Northern California. Yolo County has a lot to offer and it's time The Sacramento Bee recognizes this fact.

Join the (anti-Clinton) club

Nationally, the House impeachment of President Clinton was not carried through by the U.S. Senate; hence, Clinton stays in office. Why did Rep. Henry Hyde's House Judiciary Committee call no witnesses, move quickly to vote impeachment of Clinton and then insist so vehemently to call witnesses during the Senate hearing ? And the latest claim to being sexually wronged by Clinton 21 years ago? Is this a "Join to club and at least make millions on a book?" They should wrap this up and someone should pinpoint Judge Ken Starr's whereabouts when Big Tobacco's CEO's swore under oath that (consumption of) "Tobacco does not cause cancer," when they knew otherwise for over 30 years. (Judge Starr was Big Tobacco's $million/year legal counsel prior to his appointment to investigate Clinton, et al. (Another example of this sex thing getting out of order: An enlisted sergeant may face 25 years in prison for out-of-wedlock sex, but why didn't they charge ol' Gen. Ralston with the same when that was why he was rejected for an appointment by Clinton? Was it rank or was it because he was no longer enlisted? Time to revisit and revise that law. How many cumulative years are still to be served by those "convicted" of sex out of wedlock by consenting adults? And military wonders why it has problems enlisting?)

More locally, the East Bay Municipal Utility District/EBMUD (serving Oakland, etc.) wants to enforce the part of the Auburn Dam agreement (even if the Auburn Dam is never built) and go to the Nimbus Dam at top of American River for their water. But no flood control in that formula. Sacramento City Councilwoman put it best late January (4th Wednesday) when she asked, "If Sacramento River water is good enough for Sacramentans, why isn't it good enough East Bay M.U.D.?" I would also ask, "Why don't they salvage their flooding Russian River waters first?" And; how come we seldom, if ever, heard of EBMUD area lawmakers speaking out in favor of Auburn Dam package? And does not more development by EBMUD mean ;more pollution to our area from coastal breezes? EBMUD tapping into American River at top could cause water shortages for others downstream in dry years like Los Angeles has done to us before. With Woodland and Davis vying for West Sac's groundwater, maybe the final formula should include Sacramento River (some of it) for the aforementioned in exchange for some flood control and residual, or home supply guarantee.

Finally, with unanimous O.K. by Sac County, Yolo Jcounty and West Sac City Council, looks like Triple-A Baseball in West Sac in early 2000. Sounds exciting.

6th grader move premature

Re: Sixth Grade Task Force. Open letter to Pat Flint, President, and the Board of Trustees of the Washington Unified School District:

I shall not be able to attend the Feb. 23, 1999 meeting. This note is being filed because of my deep concern that it would be premature to try to implement the report until the District has completed its study of the long term need for facilities to meet growth, rehab existing, and achieve consensus on a plan for financing.

The report, prepared by a representative Committee, reflects the adopted policy that the sixth grade belongs with the lower elementary grades, not with the middle school. This statement is filed, not as a challenge to this policy, and with respect for the work put into the project. It does start a massive change for many students and staff. We must be sure that the long term facilities plan being developed does not impose other changes which parents, staff and community will find difficult to accept.

Education is a major concern at all levels of government and our District will have to accommodate additional changes that will bring us in line with required policies for lower class size and other trends.

WASHINGTON NEWS ITEMS

The Sacramento River registered seventeen feet ten inches, United States gauge at the Southern Pacific bridge yesterday.

Mrs. Reinersman, who has been confined to her bed for several weeks, was reported yesterday to be progressing satisfactorily, but nevertheless without the improvement her relatives, especially her daughter, Mrs. P. A. Hart, would like to see. Mrs. Reinersman has been a resident of Washington for many years and is highly respected in the community.

Trustees of the West Sacramento district met at the headquarters building last night to transact the ordinary routine business. G. M. Jones and J. Peltier came up from San Francisco to attend the meeting with Trustee Sam Harbinson, who is a resident of Sacramento.

Mrs. F. Janak returned from San Francisco last Wednesday after spending several days with relatives at the bay city. During her absence she did some shopping for the store or service station.

Joe Pereira and family will leave here on March 10 to spend a week or more at Santa Cruz for a little rest. Joe has been working very hard of late and Mrs. Pereira has been doing more than her share of the work around the West Sacramento Auto Camp, and they believe themselves entitled to a little rest. During their absence the camp will be looked after by Deputy Sheriff Taylor.

William Burch, a Chico auto camp owner, has been stopping at the West Sacramento Auto Camp during the past ten days. Contemplating improvements in his camp at Chico, he is taking notes of the methods used in making the West Sacramento Auto Camp a model for his camp.

J. C. Scrogge Nursery Co. has moved to 28th and K Sts., opposite Sutter Fort. We have reduced all trees one-third. Main 1785.—adv.

C. E. Segi, a Japanese, was arrested on the Fourness ranch north of town last Tuesday by Roy Ludlum of the State Fish and Game Commission for shooting robins. At the time of his arrest he had eleven birds in his possession. Taken before Judge Barry he pleaded guilty and was fined $25, which he paid immediately.

For cruelty to animals a warrant has been sworn to by H. J. Winters of the society for the prevention of cruelty to animals against Max Greeman. It appears that Greeman badly injured a dog owned by Clyde Crenshaw, who advised Winters of the cruelty. From accounts at hand it appears that Greeman was annoyed by the dog and while in a fit of temper used a screw driver to punish the animal, cutting a large hole in the dog's side from which he apparently suffered severely. On examining the wound inflicted with the screw driver, Winters swore to a warrant for Greeman's arrest. Judge Barry has placed the trial to take place next Thursday, March 12, and Greeman has demanded a jury trial.

Wilbur Smith is again able to be around attending to his affairs as usual after a severe spell during which he was threatened with an operation. Fortunately, his physician found that the oepration would not be necessary.

Mrs. F. W. Peter returned to her home in Taylorsville last Wednesday after spending several days with her sister, Mrs. George, in the post office building.

Mrs. W. M. Sheldon has entirely recovered from a very severe cold from which she suffered during the past two weeks.

At the meeting of the Elks' Lodge, No. 6, in Sacramento last Tuesday evening, Ed Moss was initiated with due ceremony and rode the goat with as much dignity as he could possibly assume. Being one of the first candidates from Washington to enter the Elks' Lodge he was given more than was coming to him, and because of his good nature the initiating team put it on a little stronger than usual. Now Ed is wearing a very handsome badge, which was presented to him yesterday by some of his friends and relatives in Washington. He is even so proud of the badge that he wears it during his working hours.

Mrs. May Grace arrived yesterday from New York to spend several weeks at the home of Mrs. M. DeCosta on Anne street. Manuel Grace, her son, has been at the DeCosta home for some considerable time and lately, when the young baby of Mrs. DeCosta was baptized, Manuel took the place of godfather. Mrs. Grace is delighted with what she has seen of California so far and may decide to remain here permanently and bring her family with her.

In an article printed in last week's Independent relating to the arrest of Jack Stoutenburg for selling Yen Shee, it was reported that at the time of the arrest Jack had on his person, or rather displayed on his vest, a badge purporting to be a deputy constable's badge or a deputy sheriff's badge. Supervisor Henry Buckingham asked that the statement be corrected because at no time had Stoutenburg carried a badge and at no time was he deputized as a constable or a sheriff. If the arresting officers mistook anything that Stoutenburg had on his person at the time of his arrest for a badge they were simply mistaken.

Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Buckingham have returned home from Stockton, where they were called by the illness of their daughter, Mrs. Eva Johnson.

BARRY TO RETIRE FROM TOWNSHIP JUSTICE OF WASHINGTON

At the meeting of the board of supervisors of Yolo County held on Monday, March 2, Judge Barry offered his resignation from the position of township justice which he has held during the last eleven years.

With a great deal of regret the people of this district received this announcement because during the time of his incumbency he has administered the affairs of the justice court to the great advantage of the people and without a scintilla of criticism.

Never once has there been found the least fault with the decisions rendered by Judge Barry and seldom or never did criminals who appeared before him find fault with his decisions.

In his hand exact justice received justice. There was no leniency. There was no favoritism. There was no revenge or spirit of playing even. The law book was his guide and he administered that without favoritism or harshness.

On tendering his resignation to the board of supervisors it was refused. Those officials would not hear of it. They told him they could get no man to take his place or fill the position with justice to it as he had done during a period of nearly twelve years. Nevertheless, Judge Barry was obdurate and refused to continue in the position.

Speaking to the Independent he said yesterday:

"Failing health is the principal cause for my resignation and in addition the work of this office has been growing to such an extent that I cannot do it justice. The county government act allows only a salary of $65 per month for the township justice here. The entire time of the man who fills the place must be given over to the duties of the office and I cannot see my way clear to devote my entire time to the position with that salary.

"I am advancing in years, also, and the infirmities of age do not permit me to continue in the vigorous pursuit of settling all the affairs of the community."

Judge Barry will be sixty-seven years of age on the 29th day of May next. He was born and raised in Washington in the house now occupied by Mr. Colbert, custodian of the water works.

To the position of township justice he was appointed by the board of supervisors of Yolo County at the recommendation of the late supervisor, Wm. J. Leinberger, on November 14, 1913. He filled the unexpired term of the late C. A. Simpson, and since that time was elected three times successively.

Not only has he attended to the duties of the office he filled in the administration of justice, but he was made the arbiter by volunteer selection for all the disagreeableness of the people of the community. His home was an easy mark for any person who was in trouble and, night or day, there might be seen at his doorstep people of all nationalities, of all sex and creeds, and all colors, who had troubles they wanted settled.

His sense of justice was acute in a large degree and many a home was blessed through the decisions rendered by him even outside of his courtroom.

Although a great joker, full of fun and merriment, full of the laugh of happiness and the joy of good health, Judge Barry never wavered in his sense of justice, and the fact remains that never once was a decision rendered by him reversed by a superior court.

To a consistent offender he was merciless. To the frail and weak he showed mercy. He would rather lift up than throw down and he followed that policy unwaveringly.

To prove his severity it might be mentioned here that during the month of February just past he turned into the county treasury of Yolo County fines in the amount of $447.00. During January his fines amounted to $184.00. During December his fines amounted to $432.

KNIGHTS LANDING TO ORGANIZE CHAMBER

Knights Landing, Yolo Co., March 3. Plans for organizing an active chamber of commerce with a view of stimulating trade and engendering a better spirit of co-operation between the storekeepers and ranchers, are to be discussed at a public meeting at the Knights Landing grammar school tomorrow evening. It is claimed that Knights Landing is losing considerable trade and business because of the lack of an energetic effort to go after it.

County Superintendent of Schools Finds Children and Girls Have Not Been Insulted on Way to School

At the meeting of the Washington Boosters' Club last Tuesday evening in the town hall communications from the county superintendent of schools, Miss Harriett S. Lee, and from District Attorney Geo. T. Kern, were received that would indicate the children attending the Woodland high school from the town of Washington and using the Sacramento Northern Railroad, had not been insulted.

The communication from Miss Lee to the secretary of the Boosters' Club, Mrs. Ethel R. Palm, reads:

February 28, 1925.

Mrs. Ethel R. Palm, Secretary,
Washington Boosters' Club,
Broderick, California.

Dear Mrs. Palm:

I certainly am interested in your problem, for problem it is.

I went out to the Woodland high school yesterday and interviewed the girls who come from Broderick and could get no evidence upon which the girls could cause an arrest and prosecution, although I did find that they have been annoyed by men in that section of the town.

I feel proud of the womanly way in which they have met these annoyances.

One of the girls told me that vagrants are using the "Sacramento Northern" station for sleeping quarters and even if it were raining she did not feel that she could enter the station.

I would suggest that you send your constable down there to arrest some of them for sleeping in a public place not provided for that purpose constitutes a clear case of vagrancy.

This might stop that annoyance.

Sincerely,
HARRIETT S. LEE.

The communication received from the district attorney refers again to the difficulty of suppressing crime in this section even with stool pigeons, although these may be permanently hired to accomplish the task.

The communication from Mr. Kern was also read to the club and reads:

February 28, 1925.

Mrs. Ethel R. Palm,
P. O. Box, 338,
Broderick, California.

My dear Mrs. Palm:

I have your letter as secretary of the Washington Boosters' Club and have noted with particular attention the information and suggestions which you have presented.

The county superintendent of schools, Miss Lee, will at once interview the high school students coming from Broderick and obtain from them the details of their experiences, as you have described, and whatever action the information they give will authorize will be taken forthwith.

We have heretofore, if you remember, had serious difficulty with gambling in Washington and it seems this particular business has been resumed in another location and is probably worse than ever. I cannot write you all the details of the steps I have in mind which I think would be practicable and presumably you do not care for such details but are hoping for and expecting substantial results. I believe you will not be disappointed.

To accomplish anything will require the steady and persistent teamwork of all the officers and perhaps the assistance of some private citizens. I could not do it alone with the aid of stool pigeons and the people of that character. I have no doubt I will receive the co-operation of all concerned and that lawlessness can be driven out of your town. However, a big territory seems to have been invaded by a particular element and I have been informed and am inclined to believe that the section between the levee and the river between the bridges is a worse place than any other and being a sort of no-man's land we are not able to accomplish anything by means of attacking the owners of the land as may be possible in the case of the Chinese element.

Yours very sincerely,
GEO. T. KERN,
District Attorney.

Following the reading of the communications it was moved and seconded that an investigating committee of five men be appointed by the chairman to investigate the Chinese situation in Washington and take it before the grand jury of Yolo County.

This committee will be named by the chairman, Ray Peek, who was named by the president of the Boosters' Club to head the committee.

This committee is requested to go ahead immediately and make an investigation as to what could be done to prevent the continuance of gambling near the town of Washington but actually outside the town limits.

A good deal of discussion was indulged in by the members of the club on this question. Practically the entire meeting was occupied in discussing ways and means to stop, prevent or remedy the conditions prevailing now.

T. D. Slaven became a member of the club and paid his dues. He suggested that the secretary write to J. B. Rowray, manager of the Sacramento Northern properties in Sacramento, or Geo. F. Dietrich, president of the Sacramento Northern Railroad in San Francisco.

Attention was particularly drawn to the salary being paid Constable Frank Wilson to devote all his time to the suppression of vice in this section of the county. His salary is $70 per month, out of which he must pay rent and support a wife and family, yet he is expected to devote all his time to the prevention of vice conditions prevailing on the river levee north and south of the M street bridge.

ACTIVE PROMOTION WORK BEING DONE IN WESTGATE

Yesterday's report in Westgate from the McAnulty interests showed sales of eighteen houses or homes, three places of business and one factory site.

Although salesmen have been busy on the promotion work only a few days the results are so encouraging to the promoters that seldom or never have they ever run into such encouragement as they are receiving in West Sacramento, or Westgate.

Actively engaged in the work of the district Henry S. Judson, a partner with the McAnulty Brothers, declares that he never at any time received so encouraging evidences as he has received during his incumbency in the position of promoter of the interests of Westgate.

And Judson is not a novice at his job.

During fifteen years he was colonizing agent for the Great Northern Railroad under the administration of James J. Hill, and during that time he promoted two townsites and was very instrumental in putting the land policy of the railroad on a firm and substantial basis.

In Texas Mr. Judson promoted the building of two canals and was the means of colonizing 100,000 acres of land in the Lone Star State.

He was formerly a banker and is well aware of the possibilities that can be achieved in Westgate.

At the present time a number of salesmen are busy promoting the ideals of the new owners. New signs have been erected on the townsite and flags have been placed to indicate boundaries and sales already made.

Indeed the district has taken on a new appearance of life, a new appearance of vigor and an activity not witnessed there since the West Sacramento Company started the building of its headquarters.

Speaking to the Independent, Mr. Judson said:

"I can see no reason why this section should not go ahead with a bound and a leap and a run and a gallop.

"When the North Sacramento district was under a foot or two of water there was not enough water in this section of the Sacramento Valley to dampen the tires of my automobile.

"Where spinach, alfalfa, beans, barley, fruit and almost any crop can be grown I notice that it is necessary to blast the hardpan of North Sacramento to plant a tree.

"And yet North Sacramento has gone ahead without reason, without boosting, without merit.

"I am not making invidious comparisons but I do wish to draw attention to the wonderful possibilities of this section as in comparison with other sections that are being sold in and around Sacramento.

"Here production is at its highest. Here we do not need water for irrigation. Here the land does not bake. Here the sunshine produces wealth and the soil helps it."

If there was ever an enthusiastic promoter that was proud of the job that he has undertaken it is Henry S. Judson.

He is not entirely depending on sales made locally and is now getting in communication with eastern connections that should bring to this section of California hundreds of families.

Under his direction, Mr. G. Garnett has charge of the sales force.

One home is partially built south of the highway in Westgate. Five more will be started next Monday and soon thereafter there will be in course of construction not less than eighteen or twenty homes.

SACRAMENTO, NOT YOLO MUST CARE FOR PLAGUE VICTIM

An aged Mexican, suffering with tuberculosis, was to have left yesterday with his wife for Mexico, Yolo County having consented to pay for their transportation. But when it came time for their train to leave, the Mexican couple was missing. It was later discovered that the white plague victim had become a patient at the Sacramento County hospital.

Yolo County will be spared the transportation bill of $99.

as many students as WUSD, reported 45 drug/alcohol offenses, 29 batteries, 16 possessions of a weapon, and 27 property crimes.

"We're very proud of the fact that our school district was the site chosen to release the California Safe Schools Assessment Results," said Dr. Dennis Kelleher, WUSD Superintendent. "We're doing everything we can to assure our students are in a safe environment when they're at school and this report shows that we're headed in the right direction. We have a number of crime reducing programs in effect, and we're especially pleased with the community gardens that are now on most of our school sites. Not only do community members benefit from their labors, but they are also a presence on campuses after school hours, and that discourages vandalism and other unwanted behaviors. We're also very proud of our student conflict resolution managers, too. They're doing a great job."

A number of WUSD employees and students who have contributed significantly to local school safety were introduced during the ceremonies and they included David Kopperud, Director of Personnel & Pupil Services; Keith Schilling, School Resource Officer; Dean Gaumer, Principal of Yolo Alternative Schools; Chris Mireles, Youth Outreach Specialist for Bryte School; Alex Yang, Youth Outreach Specialist for Evergreen Elementary School; Steve McPherson, Youth Outreach Specialist for River City High School; a group of student conflict resolution managers from Yolo Alternative Schools; and Alice Briggs-Ben, the school secretary who verifies all the school crime data with the principals.

decided it was time for a change.

"You get to know just about everyone in town when you're in the donut business," said Roland, "and after listening to a lot of our customers over the years, real estate seemed to be a good way to go. Plus you don't have to get up at three o'clock in the morning to sell real estate, and that sounded like a pretty good idea, too."

Jewell received her real estate license first, and then Roland got his.

"We named the new business Home Port Realty to kind of connect it in with the Port of Sacramento," said Roland, "and we were very pleased with the way everything turned out. In the early years, I would go from door to door to get new leads, and about every other house would give me one. West Sacramento has a lot of wonderful people in it, and between the Tastee Donut shops and Home Port Realty, Jewell and I have got to meet most of them."

"My parents have worked very hard all of their lives," said Brenda Morazzini, one of Roland and Jewell's six children. "They also believe in the importance of family, and to this day, we all get together every Christmas Eve, Thanksgiving, and Easter. They really enjoy being with their children, grandchildren, and great-grandchildren, and holidays are a special time for all of us. My parents are also both very kind people, and they have always been great role models."

In the early 1990s, a number of Roland's many friends encouraged him to run for local political office and he was elected to the West Sacramento City Council in 1993. Poor health forced him to retire midway through his second term, but he enjoyed the time he spent serving the community and his health has improved lately.

"I've really felt great the last three or four months," said Roland. "Parkinson's Disease isn't something you can get rid of, but the heart problem I had has been pretty much taken care of and I'm doing fine."

"Roland brought a down-to-earth businessman's point of view to the City Council," said former West Sacramento Mayor Bill Kristoff, who served on the City Council with Roland. "In all the years I've known him, he has always been friendly, helpful, and genuinely interested in the people of this community. He was a good advocate for the political positions he held and I've always enjoyed his company, whether it was at the donut shop on in the City Council chambers."

"My father was one of 13 children," said Ray Hensley, Roland and Jewell's oldest son, "and he was raised when times were hard and it gave him an inner strength that everyone in the family admires. Not only has he done well in business and politics, but he has also made a genuine effort to make West Sacramento a better place to live, and he is very proud of the fact that all of his children still live here."

"We are a very close family," said Roland and Jewell's youngest daughter, Sheila. "At a very early age we were taught to work hard, be law-abiding, and to try and be successful at whatever we chose to do. I don't think you can ask for more than that from your father and mother, and everyone should be lucky enough to have parents like mine."

Roland and Jewell have six children: Ray, who is a lieutenant with the West Sacramento Police Department; Pat, whose family runs Sierra Hart Auto Center; Ed, who is a sergeant with the West Sacramento Police Department; Brenda, who is a part owner and agent for Home Port Realty; Montey, who is a lieutenant with the California Highway Patrol; and Sheila, who is a medical assistant and part-time professional comedian.

Roland and Jewell also have 14 grandchildren and 17 great-grandchildren.

pal at Sacramento's Hiram Johnson High School.

Controversy followed her appointment to Golden State, as a number of teachers protested her leadership style. Meanwhile, some board members and parents defended the policies Clark was implementing as necessary to improve "accountability" at the school. A number of faculty resignations followed, and several teachers told the News-Ledger that Clark was to blame.

The Washington Unified School District last year even scheduled a special communications workshop between faculty and administrators involved with Golden State, meeting at a Sacramento hotel conference room to try to iron out the differences.

The former principal's resignation letter is reprinted below.

Clark's parting comments:

Although former principal Janette Clark couldn't be reached for comment this week, her letter of resignation is of interest:

February 23, 1999

Dear Madam President and the Board of Education,

I stand before you with a passion in my heart and tears that fill my soul.- I came to Washington Unified School District with the hope of making things better—of building one whole school community. I felt that initially when I began, that I was supported. Now, because of the expected accountabilities and progression that we, at Golden State, have made through business sponsors and university programs that are integrated into the curriculum and support students and parents; there seems to be the question of supporting progression or resisting stagnation.

I entered the field of education because I knew that it provided children, students and young adults with the opportunity of all they could hope for and dream of becoming. I went into the field of education because I know that Excellence Can Be Attained...

If you care more than other's think is wise;
Rise more than others think is safe;
Dream more than other's think is practical;
Expect more than other's think is possible.

I live by the above words knowing that many leaders who provided our world with opportunity and impacted the way in which we live-- were looked down upon---
I look up to many of those leaders; Thurgood Marshall, Albert Einstein,
Nelson Mandella, Ghandi, Mother Theresa and more. My heart has the passion it takes to move forward and the dedication it takes to make a difference in the lives of students. My mind has the persistence. My vision the hope. My education is the light by which I know I can shine in the lives of our youth.

I know that as I move onward in life, I will look forward with confidence and back without regrets. Though my sadness cannot be mended. My heart cannot be "unbroken", I will press onward knowing that in my heart, I gave my best as I trudged forward to bring victory for our children at Golden State Middle School.

I will follow my star as I continue to strive for excellence, enact the hope in the lives of our children, and enlighten the minds of educators. I leave now with a glimpse of what could have been with the attached letters that I have received from community members, parents and businesses who had the courage to dream and make it come alive.....

I officially place my letter of resignation in your hands this twenty-third day of February nineteen hundred ninety nine, effective the thirtieth of June nineteen hundred ninety nine. I would also like to request the retraction and dismissal of the evaluation that Dr. Kelleher submitted to the board. He has given me his word this twenty third day of February that he would support and request the retraction of the evaluation he submitted.

Yolo deputy & K-9 receive honors at police dog competition

Deputy Mari Alvarez of Yolo County Sheriff's Department received honors in a police canine event held on Jan. 23 in Marysville, which was sponsored by the Yuba City Police Department and Dienstehunde of Greater Sacramento (a private dog training club). Alvarez, a 14-year law enforcement veteran, participated in this competition with her partner, Arras, a 9-year-old German Shepard. The competition tests the handler and dogs abilities to perform specific law enforcement tasks. Each task is judged separately and each team is given a placing. An overall "Best of Show" is named at the conclusion of the competition. There were approximately 40 teams that competed in the event with Alvarez and Arras receiving first place in the protection phase and third place overall.

Alvarez and Arras received their training from Renee Lancaster, who runs the Yolo Canine Academy in Woodland. Lancaster, who is an officer with the Roseville Police Department, placed fifth in the competition with her dog, Eike. Arras has been retired from patrol for several years but is called upon to conduct contraband searches in the Sheriff's Detention facilities, security at the Yolo County Fair and community relations at area schools.

Carnegie hero

An act of heroism on the West Sacramento riverfront a year ago has earned a Hermosa Beach man a medal and cash prize from the Carnegie Hero Fund.

David Louis Sestak is one of 18 people honored in the Carnegie Hero Fund's most recent round of accolades. The fund was established in 1904 by industrialist Andrew Carnegie, and each of the 18 honorees named will receive a $3,000 grant and a Carnegie Medal.

Sestak's medal stems from a chilly plunge he took into the Sacramento river just north of West Sacramento on Jan. 14, 1998, when he dove into the water to rescue a 70-year old motorist who had driven into the river.

Driver Alexander Popoff's car left the highway, entered the river and submerged, but Popoff freed himself from it and was seen by Sestak, a construction manager for Lighthouse Development.

Sestak, not even stopping to remove his boots, entered the swift-flowing, debris-laden current and swam about 50 feet to Popoff -- who had submerged again.

Sestak grabbed the man with one hand, using the other to swim towards the shore. Near the shore, he snagged on an underwater tree, and finally he used a branch from the bank to bring Popoff to shore. Popoff recovered from minor injuries.

The California Highway Patrol's Woodland division also honored Sestak for his actions.
